“ Andy Lalli always cared about the "kids" in those early years of the Glen Landing Drama Club and later at Mainstage Center for the Arts. All that he did as house manager, photographer or the many other jobs he held was about making sure the young people in the Drama Club and at Mainstage enjoyed their experiences fully. Our staff, our audiences, and our young people were much better for all his efforts. My deepest sympathies and prayers to his daughters and their families. You were a good friend.

“ I am saddened to learn of the passing of my friend, Andy Lalli. Andy has been a long-time friend, however, since his move to Texas several years ago, I have not seen him since the 25th Anniversary of Mainstage Center for the Arts. Andy was not only a good friend to me, but also a key founder of Mainstage Center for the Arts, having been there from the beginning. He worked tirelessly to help our organization, firmly believing in our mission to provide performing arts opportunities to young people. My condolences to Andy's family. RIP, my friend.
